Championing Early-Stage Innovators and Entrepreneurs

We know what it takes to be innovative and entrepreneurial. From our small factory in 1885 to today's successful global organization, we know how important it is to help early-stage science and technology businesses like yours.

A Pioneering Mentoring Initiative

Office Hours offers one-on-one advice from a team of Boehringer Ingelheim professionals. Our 'no strings attached' approach means there are no conditions associated, so you can be confident to have an open conversation with our expert team.

How Office Hours Works

Before your one-hour session, our team will ask you to submit a non-confidential pitch deck and five questions that you would like advice on. Key areas of focus often include pre-clinical and clinical development, research strategy, business development and commercial potential.
